I am

- Executive Director, Conservancy
- Pro bono* counsel
- Free and open source software enthusiast
- A patient

A large, stylized red heart outline that serves as a frame for the text. The heart is symmetrical and has a thick, solid red border. It is centered on the page.

Actually, I have a big heart

In the U.S., the FDA doesn't

- typically review code
- have a clear set of requirements for software
- keep a repository of source code

I am a cyborg lawyer

Software has bugs.

- SEI estimates 1 defect per 100 lines of code.
- 98% of software failures analyzed in recalls would have been detected with all pairs testing.

A premium class car has close to 100 million lines of code.

(~1 million defects?)

And now... the Internet of Things

Software is something to be passionate about.

Once upon a time (aka October '14)

“It looks like SFC might be a good match since we are looking to get the following out of a foundation.

1. Signify longevity for the project
2. Clarify and manage IP rights
3. Accept donations for the project with low overhead
4. Build community trust & transparency
5. Provide some legal protection for contributors”

An exciting year

A foundation is a key step.

You play a critical role.
